IPLOCKS TO SHOWCASE DATABASE SECURITY AND COMPLIANCE SOLUTION AT CSI 33rd ANNUAL CONFERENCE & EXPO

SAN JOSE, Calif., Nov. 1, 2006 — IPLOCKS™, a leading provider of database security and compliance solutions that protect business critical information, today announced its participation in the CSI 33rd Annual Computer Security Conference & Exhibition to be held November 5-8, in Orlando, Florida. IPLOCKS will be exhibiting in Booth #604.

“According to industry analysts, protecting sensitive data in company databases is paramount,” said Akio Sakamoto, President, CEO and Co-founder of IPLOCKS. “The IPLOCKS Database Security and Compliance Solution allows companies to automate internal controls over financial data, provide continuous verification of business processes and protect data without hampering normal business activity. It is the only comprehensive database security solution that assesses for vulnerabilities, monitors user behavior and provides an independent audit trail to support sustaining compliance. We look forward to demonstrating to CSI attendees the power of our offering.”

The IPLOCKS Database Security and Compliance Solution provides organizations with competitive agility by managing risk, and reducing the time, effort and expense associated with database compliance enforcement and data protection. IPLOCKS automates, consolidates and enforces key internal controls through on-going monitoring, analysis and reporting of databases, while reducing costs to efficiently sustain compliance.
